DMC Announces Diversity Scholarship for University of Pittsburgh School of Law Students

Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote, P.C. will award an annual scholarship and clerkship to a student from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. The firm has pledged $50,000 to the university for the next five years to fund The Dickie McCamey Diversity Scholarship.

"We believe this opportunity reflects the university's commitment to excellence and will have a profound impact on our community," said John C. Conti, President and CEO of Dickie McCamey. "We are honored to recognize the next generation of students who have distinguished themselves through their passionate commitment to the legal profession."

The Dickie McCamey Diversity Scholarship will provide tuition support for diverse second-year students in the School of Law who demonstrate merit and the potential to thrive in legal practice. Dickie McCamey will award $5,000 in both the fall and spring semesters. In addition, the recipient will receive consideration for a paid law clerk position between their first and second year.

"Pitt Law is thrilled to offer this amazing opportunity to our incredibly talented students. I am grateful to Dickie McCamey for their partnership and leadership in making this impactful gift," said University of Pittsburgh School of Law Dean Amy J. Wildermuth. "It will make a big difference for our students and our community."

Dickie McCamey, a national, full-service law firm currently employs 43 attorneys that have earned their Juris Doctor degrees from the University of Pittsburgh.
