Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote's South Carolina office provides a broad range of legal services for clients throughout the entire state of South Carolina. Located in downtown Lancaster, South Carolina (the Red Rose City), the office was initially opened in 2011 by attorneys Kenya Miller and Stephanie Lawrence (formerly Miller Lawrence, LLC). However, in 2013, attorneys Miller and Lawrence partnered with DMC under the shared vision of providing its clients with the unique character of a boutique firm while maintaining access to the comprehensive resources of a larger firm. Having increased our professional team over the past several years, the attorneys and staff in this office remain committed to delivering high quality, responsive, and cost-efficient legal services for self-insured employers, insurance companies, and servicing agents.

Dedicated to personal service, we favor a practical and straightforward approach to legal defense which results in effective and efficient representation to our clients. Our attorneys routinely and successfully handle cases before state courts and the South Carolina Workers' Compensation Commission throughout the Piedmont, Midlands, Coastal, and Pee Dee regions. With clients ranging from Fortune 500 companies to small businesses, we welcome the opportunity to provide assistance and advice in the correct handling and administration of your South Carolina claims in the areas of:
