

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Situated along the banks of the Susquehanna River, Williamsport serves as the cultural and economic hub of north central Pennsylvania. For over 75 years, Williamsport has been in the international spotlight as host of the Little League World Series. Once renowned as the “lumber capital of the world” in the late-nineteenth century, Williamsport is now home to thriving manufacturing, transportation, and healthcare industries. Moreover, and given its proximity to the prolific Marcellus Shale, Williamsport serves as headquarters for exploration and production companies in addition to natural gas service providers.

Established in 2023, Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote's Williamsport office is staffed by experienced attorneys devoted to serving clients' needs throughout north central and eastern Pennsylvania. The Williamsport office is supported by the comprehensive resources of Dickie McCamey's other 19 offices, which collectively include more than 190 attorneys across the country.

Dickie McCamey's Williamsport attorneys practice general civil litigation, with a particular emphasis in energy, product liability, commercial, premises liability, and motor vehicle litigation. Our attorneys are committed to working with their clients to obtain the best possible results in any legal matter or litigation. Although the attorneys' jury trial experience is extensive, they are also quite comfortable utilizing a variety of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms.
